DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office Action is responsive to the amendment of 05/05/09.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. Claims 1-34 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Thompson et al. (WO 03/019981 A2) in view of Boyko (US Patent 3,599,196) as indicated and discussed in the last office action.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on 05/05/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's arguments "Thus, because there is no mention in either Thompson et al. or Boyko of the need to provide a multiple frequency wireless connection, there is simply no reason why a person of ordinary skill in this art would replace the capacitor in Thompson et al. with the co-axial line resonator in Boyko", the Examiner, respectfully, disagrees with applicant's arguments because firstly, In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a multiple frequency wireless connection and matching of the acoustic frequency of the resonator with the electromagnetic frequency of the co-axial resonator) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

In addition, in response to applicant's arguments that "there is simply no reason why a person of ordinary skill in this art would replace the capacitor in Thompson et al. with the co-axial line resonator in Boyko." and "Moreover, were a person of ordinary skill to make such a substitution, despite no indication in the prior art which would have led him to do so, the resulting device would still not have the functionality of the present invention (i.e., matching of the acoustic frequency of the resonator with the electromagnetic frequency of the co-axial resonator)", the Examiner, respectfully, disagrees because one of the rationales for arriving at a conclusion of obviousness suggested by the Supreme Court's decision in KSR includes applying a known technique ready for improvement to yield predictable results and obvious to try choosing from a finite number of identified, predictable solutions with a reasonable expectation of success. Therefore, providing the device of Thompson would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, in view of the teachings of Bokyo, since all the claimed elements were known in the prior art and one skilled in the art could have combined the elements as claimed by known methods with no change in their respective functions, and the combination would have yielded nothing more than predictable results to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention, i.e., one skilled in the art would have recognized that the coaxial line resonator used in Wharton would allow an adequate coupling interface with proper matching in order to realize effectively applicant's invention.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
